MVP RV President and CEO Brad Williams Joins Recreation Vehicle Industry Association's Board

RIVERSIDE, California, November 14, 2011 – Brad Williams, president and CEO of MVP RV, Inc. of Riverside, California, was recently appointed to the Board of Directors of the Recreation Vehicle Industry Association (RVIA).

RVIA is the national trade association representing recreation vehicle (RV) manufacturers and their component parts suppliers who together build more than 98 percent of all RVs produced in the United States.

Williams takes up a vacated Manufacturer seat with a term running until Sept. 30, 2013. RVIA board members fill seats from a variety of categories in the RV industry to help manage the affairs of the association.

RVIA recently revised the association's bylaws to have interim appointments to the RVIA Board of Directors serve the balance of the vacating incumbent's term so that the election cycle is not disturbed. By maintaining this balance, elections each year will always be for seven seats and each seat will always be for a three-year term.

Williams is a 30-year veteran of the RV industry who previously worked for Fleetwood Enterprises and Thor California before co-founding MVP RV in 2008. He has also served on RVIA's Industry Education Committee.

The MVP RV manufacturing facility, which has almost 500,000 square ft. of manufacturing space on 23 acres, is located in Riverside, California. MVP RV, inc. builds travel trailers under the brand names Coast and Summit, fifth wheels under the brand names Jazz and Destiny, and toy haulers under the brand names Impact, Vortex and Envy. The company employs more than 250 people and continues to grow its dealer network in the United States and Canada. For more information about MVP RV's products, visit to www.mvprv.com.
